The Jury List was taken into consideration at a private meeting of the Legislative Council this afternoon. There was, we believe, no other business before the Council to-day.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The Duke of Richmond, Lord President of the Privy Council, said, in reply to a question, that a physician will be sent out to Astrakhan by the British Government.—Straits Times.

THE Alta California of the 21st Jan. says that the project of a line of steamships between New York and China via the Suez Canal appears to meet with but little favor at the hands of merchants in that trade in the Eastern cities.

It is notified in the Government Gazette of to-day that, in accordance with a warrant from the Queen, His Excellency John Pope Hennessy has issued a commission under the public seal of the Colony, constituting and appointing William Henry Marsh, Esq., to be Colonial Secretary and Auditor General of the Colony of Hongkong; and that the said William Henry Marsh, Esq., has been duly sworn into office accordingly. It is also notified that His Excellency the Governor has been pleased to appoint the Hon. C. May to be acting Colonial Treasurer, provisionally, and until further orders.

We are requested to state that Tickets for Admission to the Stand and Enclosure, on the Cricket Ground on the occasion of the Athletic Sports, can be obtained at the Hongkong Club, the German Club, or on application to the Honorary Secretary (H. E. Wodehouse). The Sports will commence at 1 p.m., and punctuality will be strictly observed. The Colonel and Officers of the 74th Highlanders have kindly lent their Band, and hopes are entertained that the Colonel and Officers of the 27th Regt. will also lend theirs. Mr. Coxon officiates as Judge, and Mr. Hynes as starter, while Mr. Deane acts as referee. In reference to the above we are requested to state that in the International tug-of-war, nationality is to be decided by that of the father.

By the arrival of the Hailong we learn that efforts were being made to extricate the steamer Taiwan from her precarious position; but we understand that a telegram has since been received, announcing that the unfortunate vessel has been entirely abandoned. All the officers and crew have arrived in Amoy, and the hull will be sold for what it will fetch at that port. It is satisfactory to know that all the treasure, the greater portion of the opium, and some of the general cargo have been saved—some of which has been forwarded to Taiwan, to which port and Tamsui it was destined. The Co.'s steamer Yess is due here to-morrow evening, when full particulars will doubtless come to hand of the loss of the Taiwan. The Yess comes direct from Amoy, and will not touch at Swatow.

A NOTIFICATION appears in the Government Gazette of to-day to the effect that, after the 31st March next, the regimental pay of Aides-de-Camp to Colonial Governors, amounting in the case of a Captain to £211 per annum, will have to be defrayed from the Colonial, instead of from the Imperial funds, in addition to the Staff pay and allowances; or, failing this, such officers must return to their Regiments, from which they can be no longer spared. This change is made under the provisions of the Royal Warrant of Promotions of the 13th August 1877. It seems only proper that cost of Aides-de-Camp to Colonial Governors should be removed from the Imperial funds; the supposition that such an official is performing his regimental duties while acting as Aide-de-Camp in a distant Colony would of course be in most cases a simple piece of official humbug. The same issue of the Gazette also announces that whenever a Governor requires a Queen's ship for any purpose which the Naval Authorities do not consider to be part of her ordinary duty, the cost of the coal will be charged against the Colony under his Government. If, however, the Governor is of opinion that the cost of the service in question should be charged against the Imperial funds or some other Colony, the Imperial Government will be open to consider his representations on the matter.

HONGKONG FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

The tenth ordinary meeting of the shareholders in the above Company was held this afternoon at the Offices of the General Managers in the Queen's Road. There were present: Hon. W. Keswick (in the chair), Messrs. Kelner, McEwen, Jackson, Emory, H. Smith, Shaw, C. E. Chester, Vaughan, Deason, Harford and E. F. Alford (Secretary).

The Secretary having read the notice convening the meeting.

The Chairman said: With your permission, gentlemen, we will take the pleased with the result of the year 1877. In previous years I had only to offer congratulations to shareholders upon meeting them at these annual occasions. On this occasion, though we have losses to mention, I think we have also reason to congratulate the shareholders upon the result of our last year's business. As you are aware, the fire that occurred at Christmas caused a loss to the Company—a loss greater than has been sustained in any previous year—but still we have the most satisfactory sum of $147,000 to show at the credit of the Company after meeting all the losses that were sustained. The losses in the particular fire to which I allude amounted to about $148,000. There were also losses in Shanghai of some $7,000, and there have been some minor ones; these comprise the losses of last year. And now I think there is a pleasing duty before the shareholders,—to acknowledge their indebtedness to the energy, courage, and perseverance, with which the Volunteer Fire Brigade has served the interest of the Colony. I hope the Government will take measures by which such a catastrophe as that which occurred on Christmas night, though we cannot possibly expect them not to re-occur, in some degree, may be greatly mitigated in their effects. It is not only the losses to the insurance offices, that have to be regarded; there is an amount of misery entailed, and an amount of serious depreciation of the value of property in the Colony, a real diminution of capital, resulting from these fires, which, I think, it is the duty of the Legislature to prevent as far as it can. I think there is now little more for me to do than to propose that the Report as presented and the accounts be passed; but I shall be happy to answer any questions that may be put to me.

Mr. McEwen seconded the motion.

Carried unanimously.

Mr. Linstead proposed and Dr. Adams seconded, "That the usual remuneration be granted to the Consulting Committee."

Carried unanimously.

Mr. McEwen proposed and Mr. Deason seconded, "That the remuneration to the Auditors be $160 each."

Carried unanimously.

Mr. Emory proposed and Mr. CHATEL seconded, "That the present Consulting Committee, consisting of Messrs W. Kelner, A. P. McEwen, C. D. Bottomley, T. Jackson, and J. H. dos Remedios, be re-elected."

Carried unanimously.

Dr. Adams proposed and Mr. VAUGHAN seconded, "That Messrs A. Coxon and H. Smith be re-elected Auditors."

Carried unanimously.

Mr. BOTTOMLEY proposed and Mr. COXON seconded, "That the usual remuneration to the gentlemen who filled the office of Secretary be voted."

The Chairman, in putting the motion to the meeting, said he was pleased to express his own personal acknowledgments to Mr. Alford for his great services and great attention to the interests of the Company.

Carried unanimously.

The Secretary expressed his thanks to the Shareholders for their vote, and to Mr. Keswick for his remarks.

The Chairman: The dividend warrants will be issued immediately. I should be glad to hear any remarks which any shareholders present may be disposed to make with regard to the business of the Company. There is one matter which I almost omitted to mention, that is, that it will be desirable to call an extraordinary meeting of the Company with the view to making some alterations in the Articles of Association, by which the net profits of the Company may be somewhat differently divided to what they are at present. It is proposed that in order to meet such a contingency as that of the losses which were shown last year, and that the contributors of business may still receive that return on their contributions which they have been in the habit of receiving, to make some alterations, and with that view an extraordinary general meeting will be called shortly. In making provision for such allowances to contributors of business the interests of shareholders will of course be considered. It is a most important matter that in any change which may be made that the great principle of maintaining our Reserve Fund should not be lost sight of. That Reserve Fund is our great strength—a strength of which this Company ought to be proud, and any change made should not in any way interfere with the principles which the Articles of Association have hitherto enabled us to follow, and to create that which is our strength. It is important that contributors of business should receive their returns, while, at the same time, the interests of the shareholders will not be overlooked. The meeting will take place in a few weeks, and due notice of it will be sent round to the shareholders. The proceedings then terminated.

(Before C. V. Oragh, Esq.)

BREACH OF PASSENGER ORDINANCE—HEAVY PENALTY.

The Masters of the river steamer Kinshan and Powen appeared on a summons, charged with carrying an excessive number of passengers on their steamers on the 17th and 18th instants respectively. Mr. W. H. Brereton appeared for the defendants, and Mr. Sharp, the Crown Solicitor, prosecuted.

Brereton objected to the case being proceeded with on two grounds—1st, that the ordinance under which the summonses were issued is effect and in abeyance; and 2nd, that it is contrary to right, reason and common sense, and that as such the Court should pass it over and give no effect to it. As to the first objection Mr. Brereton stated that in September 1877 a similar charge was brought against the master of the Kinshan, and showed that the ordinance was a tissue of absurdities and offered no protection to passengers while it afforded no criterion as to the proper number of passengers to be carried by a steamer. The Magistrate however inflicted the full penalty of $5 for each passenger in excess, and the steamers were subsequently measured by order of H. E. the Governor, who remitted the whole of the fine except $100. H. E. having satisfied himself that the ordinance was a tissue of nonsense, brought on a new ordinance, which, although not yet passed, was now before the Legislature.

Mr. Sharp said that the Court had merely to consider the words of the ordinance (11 of 1876, Sec. 5) and that a careful account had been taken of the number of passengers on board the steamers on the 17th and 18th instants.

Mr. Jose Luis de Solaz y Alava was then called to prove the tonnage of the steamers. The Kinshan was 3,600 tons, and the sanctioned number of passengers would be 920. The net registered tonnage of the Powen is 636.69; this would give 424 passengers. She has special permit to run between this port, Canton and Macao, and nowhere else. She was so running on the 18th.

By Mr. Brereton:—The Harbour Master is in the habit of issuing steam launches to carry passengers. There is a special ordinance for that purpose. The steam launches running to Kowloon are licensed. The document produced is a bill of sale of the Powen, the registered tonnage is mentioned as 636.69. Supposing the blank spaces for deck houses had been filled, it might have augmented the tonnage. I think that more passengers than 2 for every three tons might be carried on board such steamers as the Powen. It is not the practice in the Harbour Office of stating the tonnage of a steamer in so many three tons.

By Mr. Sharp:—The tonnage under tonnage deck is 790; 636.69 is the true net tonnage of the Powen.

Inspector Matheson was next called, and said:—I received instructions on the 17th and 18th with reference to the Powen and Kinshan. Acting on my instructions I sent four police boats to wait the arrival of the Kinshan. I went on the Canton Wharf and could see the steamer coming in. No boats went alongside of her until she got inside the junk anchorage. No coxies except those who were in uniform and had the Company's hats were allowed on board. There were police boats on either side of the steamer. I stationed myself at the main gangway, Inspector Lindsay at the forward gangway, and P. C. Campbell at the after gangway. I proceeded to count the passengers, and I had two constables and a sergeant stationed at the gangway to prevent the people making a rush. They came out one by one, and I counted 898. This did not, so far as I know, include a y of the crew. I am quite sure that I was accurate in my counting. I received similar instructions with reference to the Powen, and the following day, the 18th, similar precautions were taken. I stationed myself on the middle gangway. There are three gangways. I counted 491 passengers, and I had taken very great care in my counting. I am quite sure that I did not go on board the Kinshan until she was within a mile or a mile and a half of the wharf. For all I know some of the persons I counted who came on shore from the steamers may have formed part of the crews. It is usual for boats to surround these steamers when they come into the Harbour. The gangway I was at was about 4 feet wide. I can only speak as to the number of passengers I counted myself. I will not undertake to swear that no one got on board of the Kinshan from the time I saw her hull until I got on board of her. I cannot swear that no junks went alongside before she rounded the point. I could not see her then.

P. C. Campbell (No. 68) on being called, said he gave the look-out special instructions to clear everybody off the wharf before the steamer came alongside, and to allow nobody but the wharf coolies on the wharf. I saw the steamer first when she was about abreast of the Sailor's Home, and no one got on board of her after that until she came alongside the wharf. I stationed myself at the after gangway. There was no one on the wharf but the wharf coolies who all wore hats, the police, and 6 seamen, all of whom I knew. The passengers were warned not to rush and they made no attempt to do so. I counted 547 persons. I don't believe any of these belonged to the crew. I know the crew pretty well. I counted 236 from the Powen.

By Mr. Brereton:—I cannot swear that there were none of the crew amongst the 547 I counted, from the Kinshan, nor amongst the 236 I counted from the Powen. As near as I can judge I saw the steamer when abreast of the Sailor's Home.

By Mr. Sharp:—The steamer can be seen right up to the Pass. She does not come round by Green Island, but across almost from Stone Cutter's Island.

The case was adjourned till 4 p.m., on resuming.

Inspector Lindsay was examined, and gave corroborative evidence. He stated that he had counted the passengers who left the Kinshan and Powen.

In cross-examination by Mr. Brereton, he said that he could not positively swear that no one went on board the steamers before they got alongside the wharf. He had seen the steamers some time before they reached the wharf, and had seen no boats go alongside of them. When the passengers were counted each hundred was written down. The police system of tallying down to each passenger as he came on shore.

By Mr. Sharp:—I cannot say at what rate of speed the steamers were travelling. The officers of the steamers asked me with what object I was counting. They could have checked my tally if they had liked.

P. O. No. 26 (Peterson) stated:—I was in a boat when the Kinshan was coming through the pass. I had glasses and could see her all the way. She was going at the usual speed. I can swear that no boat went near her until she passed the P. O. wharf, and that she never stopped. She slackened speed as she entered the junk anchorage. I caught sight of the Powen as she was entering the fairway. I met her opposite the Harbour Master's Office. I then pulled up alongside of her on the other side whilst she was alongside the wharf. There were two other police boats besides mine, and I can swear that no one got on board of her after she passed the Harbour Master's wharf.

By Mr. Brereton:—The Kinshan steamed slowly whilst coming through the junk anchorage. Some one might have gone on board the Powen on the other side to which I was stationed.

P. O. No. 5 (Harper) gave similar evidence. He had been stationed aloft and could see both sides of the steamer as she came up to the wharf.

In cross-examination by Mr. Brereton, witness said that he had been able to keep both sides of the steamer in view the whole time. He was only 10 yards distant of her, and was frightened of getting under the propeller.

Mr. Brereton: Do you not know that the scow of a steamer makes a great commotion in the water?

Witness replied that he did know.

Mr. Brereton remarked that if the witness could keep close under the steamer's stern and see both sides of her, that he must have a very good face.

In answer to Mr. Sharp, witness said that the Kinshan was a paddle steamer (laughter).

Mr. Brereton said that only made the matter worse.

By Mr. Sharp:—I spoke to the Captain arrival, and stated that no boats went alongside after he saw her.

Li Hung King, deposed:—I was a passenger on board the Kinshan on Monday, the 17th. It was very hard to walk about on board in consequence of the great crowd of passengers. Two boats came alongside at Whampoa; they were large cargo boats; each boat may have contained over a hundred persons. No passengers landed. When we entered Cap-sing-moon a steam-launch came alongside, but I did not notice any passengers leave the steamer. As we entered the Harbour I noticed 4 or 5 police boats surround the steamer. No other boats came near the steamer.

By Mr. Brereton:—No one told me to go on board the steamer and take note of the number of passengers. No one told me to come here and give evidence.

Mr. Brereton: Are you not paid to come here and give evidence?

Mr. Sharp objected to this sort of brow-beating.

Mr. Brereton said that his experience was that evidence was often cooked up.

Mr. Sharp said that it was not likely the police would cook up a case.

Mr. Brereton said he did not say that they did.

Mr. Oragh said that the witness was giving his evidence in a very straightforward manner.

Wong Asam, a quilt-maker, deposed to having been a passenger on board the Powen on the 18th from Canton. He went to sleep shortly after the steamer left Canton, and could not say whether or not the steamer stopped at Whampoa. He woke up when the steamer arrived here.

Mr. Brereton said he proposed putting in two certificates signed by Captain Cairns, and if Mr. Sharp would not admit them, he would have to call Captain Cairns.

Mr. Sharp said that they could only act according to the Ordinance; he had no objection to have them put in, and his Worship could place what weight he liked upon them.

Mr. Brereton said that his Worship would perhaps note that the Kinshan, according to those documents, had a superficial area of cabin space by 9, and the sum of the two quotients was the number of passengers which should be carried.

That said, the learned Counsel, was a sensible way of arriving at the number—it was not weight, but space that had to be considered. The Company had done no moral wrong, had been guilty of no moral offence. It treated with his Worship entirely what fine he should inflict, if he made up his mind to inflict a fine at all. The Company deserved the sympathy and support of every man in the Colony. He endeavoured to show that the Magistrate had per w to reduce the penalty as he thought fit, and read the Ordinance so empowering him.

Mr. Sharp said that was framed previous to the Ordinance at present in question.

Mr. Brereton then continued to say that if the English Act had been in force here, there would have been no breach. And he asked his Worship to dismiss the case.

Mr. Sharp said that the Court had only to deal with the Ordinance. He alluded to the danger of overcrowding in the case of collisions or fire, and called attention to the case of the Princess Alice. He thought the Police had only done their duty, and that his friend had gone rather far in his allusions both to the police and the gentlemen who framed the Ordinance. He alluded to the insufficiency of boats.

Mr. Brereton said they had the number of boats provided for by the Merchant Shipping Act.

Mr. Sharp continued, commenting on the absence of proper precautions being taken to prevent overcrowding; if there were turnstiles or something of that sort in use, the overcrowding might be prevented. The Police at Canton would lend every assistance if applied to. The learned counsel submitted that the Magistrate had no option but to inflict the full penalty, and that whatever view H. E. the Governor took of the case was another matter.

The number in excess in the Kinshan is 1,100 and in the Powen 935.

His Worship said that he felt sure that his only guide was the Ordinance of 1876. The Company had been fined before, and had taken no further precautions; if the means were not adequate, they should have provided further means; and further he was of opinion that if they had tried to prevent overcrowding at Canton, they would not have stopped at Whampoa. He should therefore inflict the full penalty of $250 and $5 a head on each passenger carried in excess.

Mr. Brereton gave notice of appeal. The penalty thus amounts to $10,875; Kinshan, $5,500; and Powen, $5,375; besides the penalty of $250 in each case.

LARCENY AT THE LATE FIRE.

Man Atong and three others were charged, on remand with stealing clothing and jewellery from the house of Mr. Da Silva whilst a fire was raging in the next house. The 1st defendant was sent to 6 months' hard labour and 14 days' solitary confinement, for larceny. The 4th defendant was sent to six months' hard labour, the first and last 14 days to be in solitary confinement, and on the day previous to his release from Gaol he was ordered to be publicly exposed in the stocks for six hours at Wan-chai. The other two men were sent to three months' hard labour each as rogues and vagabonds.

(Before the Hon. C. May.)

ALLEGED EMBEZZLEMENT OF $11,000. Fong A-yow, compradore to Messrs Noursey Keswice & Co., was charged on remand with embezzling the sum of $11,000 or thereabouts, the moneys of his employers with which he was entrusted by virtue of his employment.

Mr. Dennis appeared to watch the case on behalf of the defendant, and Mr. Caldwell appeared to prosecute.

Mr. Dadabhai Mancherjee was declared to act as interpreter in Gujarati.

Abdool, Hester the bookkeeper to Messrs Noursey Keswice & Co., was examined, and deposed to the manner in which the accounts were kept and produced the books. Defendant's duties, said witness, are to keep the cash accounts, and receive and pay money on account of the firm. The defendant had furnished witness with an account of payments and receipts, and witness entered them in the cash book. These accounts were rendered at irregular intervals, sometimes a month, two months, three months, or even longer intervals. A daily balance was entered and carried onward until the final balance was obtained, when defendant furnished particulars. It was mutually understood that the final balance was accurate. Witness then related the routine of business, and then went on to say that the first time this year that he compared accounts with defendant was on the 20th January, when the account embraced the period commencing on the 18th or 19th Nov. up to the 4th Jan. On the 6th Feb., he said, I and the defendant sat down to make up our accounts, commencing from 6th January to 5th February inclusive. The balance then struck was $11,167.09; on the 5th January it was $11,683.42. On the preceding day it was $9,119.02, and I account for the sudden rise thus: after I had settled the account on the 4th January I found by reference to my books that certain items had been omitted. I found out these omissions between the 20th and 23rd January, by comparing the defendant's accounts with my own books, i.e., the journal, ledgers, sales-book, and others. The items omitted were proceeds of goods sold on account of the firm. I made a memorandum at the time of the omissions I discovered. I produce it; after I made the memo., I told the defendant the omissions I had discovered. I spoke in pidgin English. I said, referring to the memo., "This money you no have puttee book." Defendant replied, "My no have cathee money." The first item I discovered to have been omitted was three chests of opium ($1,692.62) sold 17th April, 1878, and I immediately told the defendant. I asked him why he had not entered the money for the three chests in his book, and defendant said "I look see my book." He went to look at his book, and came to me next morning saying, "My have look see book, my no have cathee money." I then went to the house of the firm to whom the opium had been sold, accompanied by the defendant. The merchant (Rhamtollah) spoke to the defendant in pidgin English, "My have pay Hadji Ali's cheque on Shanghai Bank; that money you have cathee, no have cathee?" Defendant said, "My want see Shanghai Bank make look see my have cathee that cheque." The next day defendant said he found that he had collected the amount of the cheque. He said, "I have go Shanghai Bank, have see that cheque proper, my just now can puttee book." On the 6th February when I next took the accounts from the defendant he recited that item as due to the firm. This is one of the items which go to make up the difference in the balances of the 4th and 5th of January. I found another omission of four chests of opium sold to Kwong Sung Sing, sold in April 1878. The amount of the opium was sold for was $2,335. I said to defendant "Bombay counter four chests Patna short; sometimes you no can finde, spon you no finde I can finde but give me plenty trouble." Defendant came to me next morning and said "Yes, have got four chests sold to Kwong Sung Sing, I have cathee money 28th April, can puttee book." This item also formed part of the balance shown on the 5th January. I know that these two items formed part of the balance due by the defendant to the firm on the 6th February, because the debit side of the account was insignificant, and not one cent was paid into the bank. Between $600 or $700 appear on the debit side in sundry items. To the best of my knowledge the balance has not been reduced by payment of any money to the firm. On the 2nd December I paid defendant on account of the firm $56.18, and this did not appear in the account rendered by defendant up to 4th January. I spoke to the defendant about the amount, and he admitted it.

The case was then remanded until the 1st March at noon.

NEWS BY THE AMERICAN MAIL.

The O. & O. S. S. Belgia, Capt. Mayet, with dates from San Francisco to Jan. 21 arrived this morning.

TELEGRAMS.

London, Jan. 17.—The United States sailing ship Constitution went ashore early this morning, on Ballard Point, near Swansea, England. Steam-tugs had been sent to her assistance. The ship was on her way from Havre to New York. Her Majesty's ship Warrior has gone to her assistance.

Later.—By the combined efforts of several tugs, the United States ship Constitution got off the sand and was immediately towed to Portsmouth for examination. She has suffered no apparent damage. The reason of her stranding is unknown.

London, Jan. 17.—An enormous crowd has assembled in Lombard street, and great excitement prevails over a reported run on the London and County Bank. A dispute about a cab fare in front of the bank attracted a crowd. This was about 11 o'clock.

It soon began to be noticed about the genuine run on the bank was begun, and the street ever since has been blocked with people. A corps of policemen is keeping order. The bank has a good many branches in the suburbs, and the rumor spreading may cause such a drain on its cash resources as to bring the concern into difficulty.

London, Jan. 17.—The Times, in its financial article this morning, says: There is no direct evidence that Germany has sold any of her surplus silver, but unless it comes from that quarter it is not clear whence the amount which commanded $64d. per ounce on Thursday could have been obtained, as the market was said to have been entirely bare before that transaction. The current opinion is that in the probable event of the Indian demand being prolonged, Germany will come on the market as a seller.

London, Jan. 18.—The financial articles in this morning's newspapers deny that yesterday's idle crowd caused any drain on the reserve of the London and County Banking Company's Bank.

Washington, Jan. 17.—General Grant, in his letter accepting the offer of the Administration to take passage on the United States man-of-war Richmond for a voyage to the East Indies, assures the Department that he will be ready to embark whenever the vessel is ready, thus causing her no detention; that he will use the ordinary means of conveyance if he desires to visit ports to which the vessel would not go if he was not on board; and that he shall see to it that his entertainment on board the Richmond shall not cost the Government anything.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The Committee on Coinage has agreed upon three bills, which Chairman Stephens is authorized to report to the House when that committee is called. The first is to redeem trade dollars at par, and recolon them into standard silver dollars; the second provides for the redemption of subsidiary silver coins and their recolon into legal tender dollars; and third is intended to equalize the double metal standard by making 16 of silver to 1 of gold, instead of 16 to 1 as at present.
